

UltraSorb

Reduce losses caused by mycotoxins

UltraSorb

Welcome to TheTransitionCompany

We are an international nutrition consultancy for the dairy industry. Based on your farm's unique situation, our specialists advise you on how to make the cow's transition period run as smoothly as possible. The starting points are healthy livestock and optimum yields. We look at not just one aspect of your farm, but the whole farm and all your business processes. And we do this with the express purpose of giving you, the dairy farmer, an insight into where improvements can be made.

Because every farm is unique, we use a tailor-made approach that involves analysing various business processes. Our close ties with veterinarians and nutritionists give us insights into areas such as rationing, forage cultivation plans and the focus on forage harvesting.

When analysing your business processes, we look together at the options for achieving returns on your farm. For us it is paramount that you as the farmer should remain in control. We believe it is important to share ideas with you about how you as a dairy farmer can look forward to a carefree future with your business.

With our technical expertise and practical experience, we have been helping dairy farmers to produce healthy livestock and optimum yields for more than 15 years. This is not a short-term solution but a long-term one.

Counteracting the effects of mycotoxins

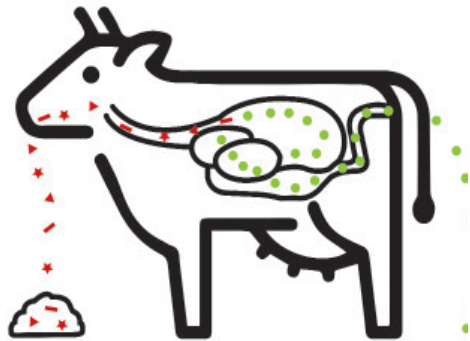

The challenge

Mycotoxins are real silent killers and one of the most dangerous hidden threats to the health of your cows. Mycotoxins are the defence substances of moulds and are invisible to the naked eye. They are often found on the seeds of crops. This means that many mycotoxins are already present in the field and can easily be transferred with the harvest. But they can also be formed later during processing or transport.

UltraSorb has been developed to reduce the impact of mycotoxins on animal health and performance. A healthy rumen can neutralise some of these mycotoxins to a certain extent. Common symptoms caused by mycotoxins are the familiar, vague complaints, but symptoms can also include cows coming into heat poorly and more mastitis. With all the negative consequences.

How does it work?

The susceptibility and sensitivity to mycotoxins differ widely between animal species. There are also different types of mycotoxins, each with a different effect. In cows, for example, there is a type that resembles the fertility hormone oestrogen with a similar effect.

UltraSorb ensures effective binding as well as transforming and neutralising mycotoxins. In addition, UltraSorb contains a unique blend of essential oils, which protects against the negative effects of toxins and also promotes feed intake.

What does UltraSorb contain?

UltraSorb is a unique composition of bioactive ingredients, clay minerals, an EFSA registered live yeast, yeast cell walls and essential oils.

Thoroughly tested

UltraSorb has been extensively trialled on dairy farms. Cows fed UltraSorb were shown to have a continuous increase in milk production, ranging from 2 to 4 litres of extra milk per cow per day.

Risk analysis

Although the extent of the problem caused by mycotoxins is becoming increasingly clear, the danger is often overlooked.

We can analyse the rations of your cows for the presence of mycotoxins. This service allow us to detect with extreme accuracy the presence of mycotoxins that have the largest negative impact on animal performance.

Can I use UltraSorb on my organic farm?

Yes, you can. UltraSorb is approved for use in organic feed.
